

About MYET Atelier

From Concept to Creation

MYET Atelier is a fashion design, development, and production studio based in Norway, created from a passion for fashion, craftsmanship, creativity, and the belief that every design deserves the opportunity to become something real.

We support emerging designers, fashion entrepreneurs, established brands, students, creative talents, and private clients through the journey from the first idea to the finished garment.

Our approach combines creative design, technical expertise, craftsmanship, and personalized service, providing clients with the professional support they need at every stage of fashion development.

Our Story

MYET Atelier was created with a simple idea: to make professional fashion development more accessible to people with creative ideas.

Having a vision for a garment is only the beginning. Transforming that vision into a professionally developed product requires technical knowledge, accurate patterns, suitable materials, skilled garment construction, fitting, sampling, and reliable production.

For many emerging designers and small fashion businesses, finding all of these services can be challenging.

MYET Atelier was established to help bridge that gap.

A project can begin with something as simple as a sketch, inspiration image, existing garment, fabric, technical drawing, or an idea. From there, we help develop the concept step by step.

Through fashion design development, pattern making, material sourcing, prototype and sample making, garment construction, fitting, production preparation, and manufacturing support, MYET Atelier helps transform creative concepts into tangible garments.

Meet the Founder

MYET Atelier was founded by Mayeth Codoy, a fashion designer and creative entrepreneur with a passion for transforming ideas into professionally developed garments.

Her experience in fashion design, pattern making, garment construction, sampling, and production development inspired her to create an atelier where creativity and technical craftsmanship could come together.

Through her journey in fashion, Mayeth recognized the challenges many emerging designers and entrepreneurs experience when trying to develop their first products.

Creating a successful garment involves much more than drawing a beautiful design. It requires understanding construction, measurements, patterns, fabrics, fitting, sewing techniques, quality, costing, and production.

This understanding became an important part of the foundation of MYET Atelier.

Mayeth's vision is to create a professional and supportive environment where clients can confidently develop their ideas—from the first creative concept to a finished product.

Through MYET Atelier, she also aims to support creativity, encourage entrepreneurship, share technical knowledge, and create opportunities for emerging designers and creative talents.

Craftsmanship at the Heart of MYET Atelier

The word atelier represents more than a workspace.

For us, it represents craftsmanship, creativity, precision, and the human skills behind every garment.

Behind a finished piece are countless decisions—patterns, measurements, fabric selection, construction techniques, fittings, adjustments, finishing details, and quality control.

MYET Atelier values this process.

We combine creative thinking with technical garment-making knowledge, giving each project the attention required to transform an idea into a professionally developed garment.

What We Do

MYET Atelier provides fashion development services that can support a project from the earliest concept through production.

Our services include:

- Fashion Design & Design Development
- Pattern Making

- Material & Fabric Sourcing
- Prototype & Sample Making
- Garment Construction
- Fitting & Pattern Adjustments
- Production Preparation
- Small-Quantity Manufacturing
- Fashion Development Consultation

Clients can choose individual services or work with MYET Atelier throughout the complete development process.

Our Development Process

Idea & Inspiration → Design Development → Pattern Making → Material Sourcing → Prototype → Fitting & Adjustments → Final Sample → Production → Finished Garment

Our Clients

MYET Atelier welcomes clients at different stages of their fashion journey.

You do not need to have an established fashion company to work with us. An idea is enough to begin.

We work with:

Emerging Fashion Designers

Designers developing their first garments, collections, portfolios, or fashion businesses.

Independent Fashion Brands

Small and growing brands requiring professional support with patterns, samples, sourcing, garment development, or production.

Fashion Entrepreneurs

Individuals preparing to transform a creative idea into a commercial fashion product or launch their own clothing brand.

Established Designers & Businesses

Fashion businesses that need additional pattern development, sampling, technical services, or production support.

Fashion Students & Creative Talents

Students and aspiring designers who need professional assistance turning sketches and concepts into physical garments.

Private Clients

Individuals seeking personally developed, special, or custom-made garments.

International Clients

Designers and businesses outside Norway looking for professional fashion development services and production opportunities.

Connecting Norway & the Philippines

An important part of MYET Atelier's vision is creating a connection between Norway and the Philippines.

Our fashion development and technical services in Norway provide clients with close communication throughout the design, pattern-making, sampling, and fitting stages.

For selected projects, manufacturing opportunities in the Philippines can provide an additional solution for designers and small brands looking for flexible and accessible production.

This international connection is also about something greater than manufacturing.

It represents our belief that fashion can connect different cultures, traditions, skills, craftsmanship, and creative perspectives.

Supporting Emerging Brands

MYET Atelier understands that many new designers are not ready for traditional large-scale manufacturing.

A new brand might need only a small number of garments to test a collection, introduce products to customers, create content, or begin selling.

That is why our approach is particularly suited to designers and entrepreneurs who want to develop carefully and grow gradually.

Whether you are creating your first garment, developing a capsule collection, launching a brand, or preparing designs for production, MYET Atelier can support you throughout the process.

Responsible & Thoughtful Fashion

MYET Atelier believes that the future of fashion should be both creative and responsible.

Responsible fashion begins before a garment reaches production.

Careful design development, thoughtful material sourcing, accurate patterns, properly tested prototypes, and appropriate production quantities can help prevent unnecessary mistakes, excess production, and textile waste.

Our philosophy is:

Design with purpose.

Develop with care.

Produce thoughtfully.

We believe that quality, craftsmanship, responsible decision-making, and creativity can work together.

Our Vision

Our long-term vision extends beyond providing fashion services.

MYET Atelier aims to create an environment where fashion, craftsmanship, education, entrepreneurship, cultural exchange, and collaboration can grow together.

We want to support designers in developing not only beautiful garments but also the knowledge and confidence needed to move forward in the fashion industry.

By connecting creative talent, technical expertise, and production opportunities, we hope to contribute to a fashion industry that provides greater opportunities for independent designers and emerging entrepreneurs.

Growing Together With Our Clients

Every designer has a different story, and every project begins at a different stage.

That is why MYET Atelier takes a personal and collaborative approach to working with clients.

We listen to the idea, understand the vision, identify what is needed, and help determine the most appropriate development process.

Whether a client is creating one garment, a first collection, or building a growing fashion brand, our goal is to provide the craftsmanship, technical knowledge, and professional support needed to move the project forward.

We value long-term relationships and hope to grow alongside the designers, entrepreneurs, and brands we work with.

Our Philosophy

Every garment begins with an idea.

Every idea deserves the opportunity to become something real.

At MYET Atelier, we help transform that idea through creativity, craftsmanship, technical knowledge, and thoughtful production—from the first sketch to the finished garment.

Your Vision. Our Craftsmanship. From Concept to Creation.

MYET Atelier